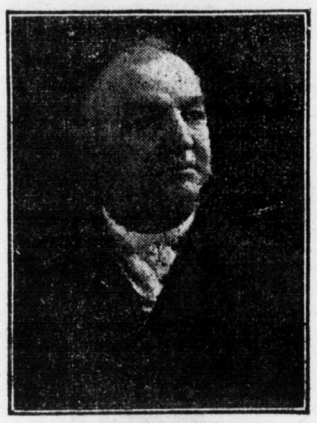
Congressman Dresser Banquets His Employees.



HON. S. R. DRESSER.

[Saturday's Bradford Star.]

The banquet given last night by the Hon. S. R. Dresser to the men, who were responsible, along with him, for the erection of his beautiful home on Jackson avenue, and his mammoth warehouse in Patent alley, was an unqualified success.

The menu was extensive, well selected and well served, the company was congenial and in thorough good humor; there was evident a responsive good spirit between employer and employee; a spirit of friendliness, one for the other, so heartily that it could not fail to be noticed by the small group of outsiders present.

Mr. Dresser and the men who have worked on the two buildings have become well acquainted through their long association. The workmen found in Mr. Dresser a man who wanted only fair treatment; a fair day's work for the wages he was paying, and he found in them a large company of intelligent American workmen who knew how to do work well and were willing to do it, and did do it. It cannot be wondered at, then, that last night's meeting of the two, was one of good cheer and friendliness.

The banquet was given in the new warehouse, which was beautifully decorated with national flags and bunting. The caterer served as good a menu, in fact a duplicate of that served on Wednesday evening to the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, and the service of the amateur waiters—volunteers for the occasion from Mr. Dresser's machine shop and other working interests—was as good as it would have been had professionals filled the places

After the dinner had been stowed away in the interior department of the guests, perfectos were lighted and the "boys" smoked up. Mr. Dresser arose and offered a toast to the president of the United States, which was drunk standing. After thanking the guests for their presence and expressing his pleasure upon being able to meet them on such an occasion, he made a short address on the duties of employer and employee to each other. Mr. Dresser said he believed in the golden rule in the labor question. Every employer and every labor union should do unto others as they would wish that others should do unto them. He believed in trades unions. He said that without them the American workmen would not be as prosperous as he is to-day. He believed in organization and the beneficent results to be gained by it. He cautioned the men not to forget the golden rule. When they were making a request or a demand, let them apply the question: "If I were the employer would I think it right to concede this demand?" and act accordingly. The employer should do the same. Let him put himself in the workman's place and ask himself the question: "Am I getting fair treatment as a workman in the matter of pay, hours, etc.?" and act according. If both employer and employee do this, it will end all labor troubles. Let neither ask of the other anything that he would object to were he in the other's place. Mr. Dresser's remarks were received with thunderous applause.

Contractor E. N. Unruh, who had charge of the work of erecting both buildings said: "We are under great obligations to Mr. Dresser. He has done more for Bradford than any other five men in the city. He has made his money here and he is spending it here. He is a public spirited citizen. If we only had a few more like him we would be better off as a city. In the past three years he has employed in building operations alone, 500 men. A great many citizens in his position would have taken their money to a larger city, to the benefit of that place, and to the detriment of Bradford, but Mr. Dresser is not that kind of a man. He is a citizen to be proud of and I hope that he will live many years to enjoy the beautiful home he has built."

Attorney E. J. Jones, of Tait & Jones, made a very witty and clever speech. Mr. Jones is a recent addition to Bradford's citizenship, having come here from St. Marys, Pa., and purchased a home on Pleasant street. He told a number of good stories that had the merit of being unlike Chauncey Depew's, in that they were not covered with cob-webs, and then he spoke eloquently of the importance of the plain people. "The power behind the throne," as he expressed it. It was the plain people, he said, who had made the nation what it is. Backed by principles commended by the Almighty God they worked and fought, and the present status of the United States is the result of it. So long as the plain people, backed by honest principles, continue in the path which they have trod since the birth of the nation, just so long will America be the leading nation of the earth, unconquered and unconquerable.

The Hon. H. H. North praised both Mr. Dresser and the men for their part in beautifying the city and aiding in its upbuilding commercially, and said each was entitled to a share of the credit. "I have known Mr. Dresser twenty years," said Mr. North. "I knew him when he had little of these world's goods, and I cannot see now, when he has plenty, any difference in him personally, than a score of years ago. He is the same plain man, with the same hearty word for his acquaintances, rich or poor. Success has not spoiled him. He has worked hard and faithful and the fruits of his work have been garnered by steady, persistent, honest effort. He is a man to pattern after. What he has done he has done well, which has always been his aim. I expect that he will do even more for Bradford. I have no idea what that will be, but I feel in may heart that Mr. Dresser has something stored away for Bradford, which some day will be given to it, and which will raise him, even higher in the esteeem of his fellow citizens."

The guests sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and drank a toast in honor of the host and departed after spending a pleasant and profitable evening.

Makes His Confession.

According to a confession made to the Towanda police $6 was the price to be paid by Bigler Johnson for the murder and burning of his wife and ten-year-old Annie Benjamin on the night of September 18, at Macedonia. Seven persons were in jail charged with arson in connection with the case. They are Bigler Johnson, husband of Maggie; his mother, Mrs. Merritt, and his brothers, Charles and Lanson, his sister, Nancy, and Lorenzo Hoeman and wife, of Binghamton.

According to the police, Bigler Johnson told how his mother and Charles killed the woman and child, poured oil on the bodies and set fire to the house. Charles is alleged to have told the same story, but asserted that his brother Lanson helped their mother. According to the confession, it was the purpose to get rid of Maggie Johnson, Bigler's wife, in order that he need no longer pay $6 a month for her support.—Wellsboro Gazette.

The Handsomest Yet.

The Potter County School Directory and Institute Manuel is upon our desk and it is certainly a great pleasure to peruse the same. In addition to the valuable information it contains relative to the Institute in session this week, the beautiful typographical make-up cannot fail to please the craft Our friend Colcord, of the Journal, has certainly done himself proud on the work.

Fast Time.

Mr. Andrew Brady, accompanied by Fred Seger and Geo. A. Walker, Jr., went to Austin last Sunday afternoon in Mr. Brady's auto. They made the return trip, seventeen miles, in one hour and eight minutes. The roads were good until they struck the Cameron county line. This does not appear very flattering to Cameron Supervisors.

Opera House Leased.

Messrs. T. J. Butler and P. J. Morrissey have leased the Emporium Opera House, with Mr. Butler as Manager. The very best attractions will be booked if the public accord them the necessary patronage.

Republican Elector.

Col. J. O. Brookbank, candidate for Presidential Elector in this Congressional district, was in Emporium on Tuesday. Many Democrats will give Mr. Brookbank a complimentary vote.

A Word to Our Democratic Friends.

EDITOR PRESS:—

I am an American. While I am not a Prohibitionist, I do not drink. I am in full accord with the article in last week's PRESS, "that the liquor traffic should be properly controlled and that saloons should not be allowed to sell to men who have no self-control," and I think that Mr. Blumle should have voted for that bill. He, of course, dared not, in his business, vote against the wishes of some greedy barkeepers. While Mr. Blumle himself is a nice man, his is a privileged business, and the Democratic party should not ask for unlimited privileges and allow their county bosses to insult the good will of the community by trying to force upon it an out and out saloon ticket. Mr. Cummings does not deserve any special consideration from our people, and Mr. Blumle has had more offices and more pay than any other man in the county, and has no record in the Legislature worth publishing. He received not only FULL PAY for his last term in the Legislature, but also received about $800.00 for lawyers fees and traveling expenses. The Republican party presents intelligent and capable men as candidates from Mr. Roosevelt down; men who have never received any particular consideration or favors politically, and I would ask the people of the county to lay aside party and personal prejudices and vote an expression of good will by supporting at least Mr. Howard and Dr. Bardwell.

AMERICAN.

Given High Masonic Honors.

At the last session of the Supreme Council of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry held at Boston, Hon. John Ormerod was elected to receive the Thirty third or highest degree in Masonry. This high honor is one that comes to very few Masons and one that is conferred for merit alone. Judge Ormerod has been an active, earnest and enthusiastic worker in Scottish Rite Masonry ever since the establishment of these bodies here and his election to secure the Thirty-third degree is very pleasing to his many friends both in and out of the craft.—Potter Democrat.

Catlin's Grist Mill.

Mr. C. G. Catlin has remodeled his mill and is now prepared to serve his customers promptly. He has added a thirty horse power Struthers gas engine to his mill. A great convenience to our farmers.

Attending Grand Encampment.

Mr. H. R. Klees, of this place, is attending a session of the Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F., at Bradford this week. He is Representalive of Emporium Encampment, No. 288 and a faithful member.

An Agreeable Caller.

Prof. H. F. Stauffer, Principal of Millville, N. J., schools, is attending Teachers' Institute at Emporium this week. The genial Prof., who was principal of our schools for several years. and a general favorite with our people, is always welcomed in Emporium. We enjoyed a call from this gentleman on Monday.

Oyster Supper.

There will be an oyster supper at the home of Mr. A. J. Ingersall on More Hill, Saturday evening, Oct. 22. Besides oysters many other delicious things will be in store for those whose appetite is their greatest companion. Good people come to a good supper and help a good cause. Price per plate 50 cents a couple.

Right You are, Sheriff.

Ex-Sheriff Hamilton made a visit to Potter county this week stopping in Coudersport between trains. He thinks the political outlook very bright for the Republican ticket in Little Cameron as well as in the rest of the country where the certainty of a continuance of Republican rule has kept business going through a presidential campaign as never before.—Coudersport Journal.

The Calder Brick and Coal Company.

W. H. G. Walker, representing the above Company, has commenced active work on Hunts Run. A large force of workman are at work building the railroad to the Company's land on Britton Hill, where the brick plant will be situated. The Company expect to be ready for business about May 1st.

Home Missionary Service.

On last Sabbath evening the Rev. Dr Pool preached a very interesting and uplifting sermon in the Presbyterian church to an appreciative congregation, on the subject of Home Missions. He held the very closest attention of all present from the beginning to the end of his discourse. For sixteen years the secretary of the Home Mission Board of his church, his words come home to the hearer as those of an expert or an authority on this great paramount need of our country—the planting and growth of evangelical churches in all this land of ours.

A Remarkable Baby.

Marie Isabel Lapont is the tiniest 2-months-old baby in this part of the State. She was born in Williamsport on August 9th. Four days after birth she weighed 1½ pounds, and at two months old, she tipped the scales at 2½ pounds. The Sun says: "When born the child's hands were about the size of the nails on the thumb of the mother's hand, and now they measure but one inch across the knuckles. The arms are as long as the mother's middle finger, and the legs are about the same length. The feet measure one and one-half inches. Shortly after the child was born, the nurse wanted to see if her ring would pass over the child's hand, and when she attempted the feat, the ring slipped up to the little one's shoulder. The baby at full length measures one foot, and her long dress is two feet long."

A Double Affliction.

Mr. Michael O'Malley, who was injured by the train at Cameron on Saturday morning, died on Wednesday, Oct. 12, at the home of his sister, Mrs. James Quinn. Much sympathy is extended to his brother, Mr. Peter O'Malley and his mother and sister, Mrs. Samuel Cleveland and Mrs. Wm. Griffith, who arrived here Tuesday evening from Thorold, Ont., and Mrs. Jas. Quinn, of this place. Only five weeks ago they were called to the bedside of their dying sister, Mrs. Maggie O'Malley, who was well known and universally esteemed by our people. This lady was buried from St. Mark's Church on Friday, Oct 14, where Requiem Mass was celebrated and an eloquent sermon delivered by the Rev. Father Downey.

The relatives desire, through the PRESS, to thank the neighbors and friends for their kindness and help in their hour of sorrow.

BRIEF MENTION.

Have you read that very interesting magazine, The Smart Set?

P. R. Beattie is building an addition to his Sixth street residence.

Real enjoyment is had when reading that clever magazine, The Smart Set.

Geo. J. LaBar's new addition to his business block is ready for the brick masons.

A good pastry cook can secure a permanent position by applying at New Warner at once.

The attendance at the Teachers' Institute last evening was very large and greatly appreciative.

We are glad to note that the Independent is beginning to recognize the distinction between abuse and criticism.

Our sportsmen were out bright and early on Saturday morning after pheasants. Josiah Fisher says he knows of some who bought beefsteak for Sunday dinner.

President Goodyear, of the Buffalo and Susquehanna railway, says that within a year the extension of the road into Buffalo will be finished.

Muffs were worn by men in Holland in 1662 and were still popular and regarded necessary by the male sex in 1684, although women were first to wear them.

The Independent confesses frankly that it has no use for intelligent discussions in a political campaign. There are other methods which it considers more potent.

The Independent evidently sees the hand writing on the wall that the entire Republican ticket, national, state aud county, will carry Cameron by from 300 to 450. The national ticket may reach 500 majority.

A teacher asked her pupils if any of them could tell where the home of the swallow is. After a brief pause a little boy, in the back row, said, "I know." "Where is it, Tommy?" asked the teacher. The reply came, "the stomach."

An exchange remarks: Since the chestnut timber and bark has become a feature of the tanning business, and is being largely used for that purpose and eagerly sought after by the tanneries, the timber has raised wonderfully in value, being picked up by large and small speculators in every section. Farmers having chestnut timber on their lands should consider themselves fortunate, for an acre of land containing chestnut trees is often more valuable than all the rest of the farm put together. It will be well for them to look into the matter before selling their timber to allow someone else to speculate upon. Young saplings are as good as old trees and rapidly grow into money if left standing. Take good care of your chestnut.

The Star Course.

The pastor and ladies of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, as per previous announcement, will conduct the Star Course the coming winter and will immediately begin the sale and delivery of tickets, pursuant to that end. The list of talent engaged is of the highest order, representing a heavy financial outlay but it is believed the patronage accorded them will be sufficiently generous to have justified the expense incurred.

The opening attraction will be the Amphion Male Quartette, with Nellie Nichols as reader, an attraction of its class, without a superior in the lyceum field. Following this will be Ellsworth Plumsted, Humorist—presenting a style of entertainment new to Emporium and certain to please. Then we will have the Boston Stars, familiarly known as the return date Company. This attraction has the distinction of being booked consecutively for four and five years, on some of the best courses east and west and is said to make absolutely "good" at every appearance.

Orvid Musin and Company of artists, will fill a January date. Musin is violinist to the King of Belgium; his release for this concert tour being effected only with considerable effort. He is one of the greatest violinists of the world. His support includes a tenor, a contralto and a pianist, with reputations that are national. We say this advisedly, that for artistic excellence, the company is to-day without a superior in the country. The Course will close with the Ariel Ladies Quartet (not the Smith Sisters) and from the favorable opinions bestowed upon them, our citizens may safely anticipate a rich feast of song. Their program also includes violin solos and various pleasing specialties. The Course tickets remain $1.50 each.

VICTOR ELLIS KILLED AT CORRY YESTERDAY.

A telegram was received at this place last evening, about five o'clock, by Mr. Mark Ellis, who resides an West Fourth street, announcing the sad intelligence of the death of his son Joseph Victor, at Corry, while jumping onto a freight train. Young Ellis, aged 23 years, was employed at the Kane glass works. Mr. Ellis, accompanied by C. W. Rishell, of Geo. J. LaBar's undertaking establishment, went to Corry on Flyer this morning, expecting to return to Emporium on mail to-night, with the remains.

Three years ago the afflicted family lost a son by typhoid fever, of same age. They have the sympathy of our citizens.

Rattled.

Following the examples of Kuropatkin and Parker, Blumle and the Independent and the whole local Democratic ticket, are now on the dead run. A worse rattled company can no where be found.

Breaking in Jail.

About 12 o'clock mid-night Monday two men attempted to enter the jail, but made a hasty retreat when Sheriff Hemphill sent a few leaded messages after them, as they beat a hasty retreat down the hill. It is the first case on record that a person attempted to forcibly enter a jail.

Time Drags.

The Independent is becoming so weary of its hopeless fight that it tried last week to shove its calendar forward, printing October 31st for Oct. 13th. Never mind neighbor, Nov. 8th will soon be past and then you can rest in undisturbed solitude, in the peaceful quiet of defeat.

Wedding Bells.

MR. JACOB ZURFLUH, Jr., of Ridgway and MISS ANNA ZWALD, of Emporium, were married on Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride, west Sixth street—Rev. Robt. McCaslin, pastor of Presbyterlan Church officiating. A large number of relatives and friends were invited, who extended congratulations to the happy couple. An elegant dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Zurfluh will reside at Ridgway. The bride, who is respected by all who know her was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents.

Instructive and Enertaining.

The Lecture last evening before the Teatchers Institute at the opera house, by Senor Ramon Reyes Lala on the "Philippines" drew a very large audience. Senor Lala is a native of the Philippines, a graduate of Oxford and a naturalized American citizen. Having returned to the Islands during the troubles he was well prepared to tell his audience the facts of the conditions now existing there. He is a genuine American and emphatically endorses the American policy and spoke enthusiastically of President Roosevelt and Gov. Taft.

Mr. Fred Julian Injured.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Fred Julian, accompanied by Mr. J. D. Logan, Mrs. Julian and Mrs. Mann drove up Clear Creek for a little outing. The men took their guns along, hoping to bag a couple of pheasants. After driving up Chop Run, the men left the ladies sitting in the carriage, while they took a walk in a thicket. Mr. Julian raised a bird and pulled his gun, which exploded, His left wrist was severely lacerated, but no dangerous results as anticipated. Upon arriving home Dr. Heilman was called and dressed the injury, which required several stitches to close the gap. Mr. Julian's friends are pleased to know that his injuries are not more serious.

Wallace Bruce Amsbary Company

Wallace Bruce Amsbury and Company, came to the Opera House Monday night in the Institute Course, and readily established themselves as favorites with our amusement going public. As an interpreter of French Canadian dialect characters Mr. Amsbary excels. Mr. Charles E. Clarke, Baritone, was perhaps the most popular member of the company, his songs satisfying in the fullest degree the most exacting demands and resulting in frequent recalls. Miss Grace Garrettson Hoffman is a brilliant concert pianist, one of the best heard here, while her work as accompanist was no less pleasing.

The total quantity of rubber exported to Europe from the Amazon river during the year 1903-'04 was 36,061,482 pounds, against 33,643,537 pounds during the previous year, and 33,253,109 pounds were exported to the United States, against 32,112,116 pounds during the previous year. The total export figures are 67,314,591 pounds for 1903-'04 and 65,756,048 pounds for 1902-'03.

From Tzaritzyn, a town on the Volga, comes the report that a new industry has been discovered, that of making caviar from the spawn of a large species of frog which is found there. It is stated that in appearance and taste there is no difference between frog's caviar and the best product of the sturgeon. A big inland trade is going on in this article, and it will soon be exported.

The average quantity of wine produced in Spain annually in the last ten years is 557,251,000 gallons. In 1900 the product was 596,866,000 gallons. This decrease in the vintage represents a loss of nearly $30,000,000 a year to the wine growers, which explains the crisis in the wine-producing districts. Fortunately, this year's vintage promises to be abundant and to compensate for past losses.

A contrivance which enables one to catch the gamest trout with a mirror has been patented by a man in East Greewich, R. I. The idea of the invention is to make the fish see himself in a mirror behind the bait. Imagining that the bait is to be snapped up by another fish, he hastens to secure it himself, and the hook at the same time. At present there is no testimony to the value of the invention in practice.

The long-pending plan to connect Singapore with Penang by railroad is about to be carried out. Part by part the road has been built through the Federated Malay States, but until recently the sultan of Johore, whose sultanate separates the Federated Malay States from the Island of Singapore, has not favored railroad connection. The sultan's objections having been overcome, it is expected that the road will be completed within four or five years.

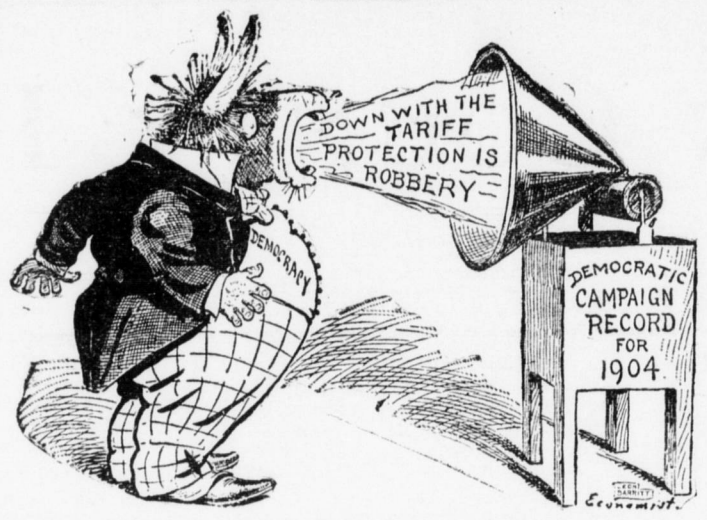
Realizing that a crowless rooster was a long-felt want of poultry lovers, Farmer Charles Ross, a Burnwood (Pa.) farmer, has risen to the occasion and bred a crowless rooster, or, rather, a mute male fowl. Farmer Ross has two samples of the crowless bird, both full grown and silent. Neither has made any other unseemly noise up to date. Whether they are deaf and dumb Ross does not know, but they can't, don't or won't crow. In all other respects they are like other roosters. The crowless fowls are hybrids.

Dogs trained to catch fish are among the features of everyday life on the barren shores of that distant part of Labrador which belongs to Newfoundland. The cod fisheries along the 1,100 miles of Labrador's coast yield about one-fifth of Newfoundland's total catch and furnish employment annually to thousands of fisher folk. They fish with lines from 150 to 200 fathoms long, two men to a boat, and each man using two handlines. The usual bait is capelin. When fish are plentiful it takes a very short time to fill a boat with cod.

Over a copper wire in the house of a Portland man is apparently sent a clear, distinct image of a living face whose original is a dozen yards away. It is an attachment to a short telephone line, and by the complete apparatus it is possible to talk over the wire and at the same instant see the movements of the lips that are framing an answer in the next room and the expression on the face of the speaker. In truth, it is seeing by telephone. J. B. Fowler, the inventor, after 28 years of application, has partially perfected the apparatus.

The great importance of Prof. Pickering's photographs and the conclusions he draws from them is that they show the possibility of life on the moon, because, if they are correct, they prove that the moon has an atmosphere containing the vapor of water. In other words, if the moon has snow and clouds it may have organic life—vegetation, as he believes—and if vegetation, then animal life. This idea, in itself, is revolutionary, for the moon has almost universally been regarded as an absolutely and hopelessly dead, frozen, asphyxiated world.

MAKING THE RECORD.



LITTLE BITS OF HISTORY.

A Few Events by Which to Measure Candidate Davis' Protracted Experience.

The Chicago Tribune seems to be deeply impressed by Candidate Davis' long life. By it it is reminded of many things that happened many, many years ago, just as thousands of others. Do you remember, for instance, that—

In 1823—Henry G. Davis was born.

In 1824—John Quincy Adams was elected president.

In 1830—Henry G. Davis was seven years old; James G. Blaine was born; Webster and Hayne had their famous debate; William IV. ascended the English throne; the first locomotive was built by Peter Cooper.

In 1837—Victoria became queen of England; Chicago was incorporated with a population of 4,170; Michigan was admitted into union; Henry G. Davis was 14 years of age.

In 1844—Rutherford B. Hayes and Henry G. Davis cast their first votes; the first telegraph line was established.

In 1848—Zachary Taylor was elected president; the free soil party was formed; gold was discovered in California; Henry G. Davis was 25 years of age.

In 1852—Alton Brooks Parker and Charles W. Fairbanks were born; Henry G. Davis was 29 years old.

In 1858—Pony express was established from St. Louis to San Francisco; Theodore Roosevelt was born; Henry G. Davis was 35 years of age.

In 1871—Chicago was burnt; the German empire was established; Paris capitulated; Henry G. Davis became United States senator.

In 1876—Alton B. Parker and Charles W. Fairbanks cast their first votes; R. B. Hayes was elected president; Henry G. Davis was 53 years of age.

In 1880—James A. Garfield was elected president; Theodore Roosevelt cast his first vote.

In 1883—Two cent postage went into effect; Henry G. Davis retired from the senate.

☞What is democracy? The St. Louis platform declares that "protection is robbery," but the vice presidential candidate says: "I believe incidental protection to our industries is right and proper."—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

☞Now that Clark, of Montana, has given $600,000 to the democratic campaign fund, the practical New York politicians are entirely reconciled to Grover Cleveland's refusal to take the stump.—Chicago Tribune.

☞The democratic campaign handbook does well to remind the people of the constitution; but, as a partisan expedient, is it wise to remind them, also, that on at least one notable occasion the republican senators defended it against a contemplated desecration?—Washington Post.

☞The republican candidate for vice president is doing energetic, effective and excellent campaign work and accomplishing valuable results. His addresses possess abundant variety, interest and force, and they are received enthusiastically wherever he goes.—N. Y. Tribune.

WHICH ONE OF THE TWO?

Why Wise Voters Will Not Hesitate to Elect Roosevelt Instead of Parker.

The "fierce light that beats about the throne" is a penny dip when compared with the electric searchlight that is turned on any citizen who is nominated for the presidency.

This is entirely correct, and no light, not even an X-ray, is too great to bring to bear on the one it is proposed to elevate to the greatest position of responsibility and power on earth.

We have before us at this time, says the American Dairyman, two gentlemen, one of whom is to be placed in that exalted station, the other necessarily relegated to comparative obscurity.

One of these has been prominently before the people ever since he came to the age of manhood, and is one of the best known citizens in this country, who has filled subordinate or minor political positions in such a manner as to inspire his fellow-citizens with confidence in his integrity and ability, and, who, finally reaching the highest one in the land through an event that was truly deplorable, brought to that most trying of all possible positions an ability that commanded the respect of even those who were the most opposed to the principles of his party.

He is a man of brains, of education, of courage and of experience. The interests of the nation are safe in his hands. He is an ideal American gentleman, with faults of his own, not a demi-god, but true and faithful to every trust, and worthy of the confidence and esteem of his countrymen.

Opposed to him is a most estimable gentleman, of fine personal character, against whom as such not one word can be said. He is a student, and one who has had the ambition of winning respect as a careful, upright and capable judge, which he has already attained. With no special knowledge of or experience in executive positions, and with a reputation of being negative rather than positive, he has been stated as possessing a "judicial" mind, one so evenly balanced that he cannot be a partisan. Whether these are qualifications to fit him for the presidency is very properly a question to consider, and when the environments of the two candidates are looked at, the personnel of their advisers and the principles of the two parties they represent, and the very probable disastrous consequences that would follow a change in the policy of the government are considered, it is not too much to predict that the voters will select the one who has proved himself capable rather than one whose experience and training have not been such as to prepare him for the heavy responsibility of the office for which he is a candidate.

Democracy in Sad Plight.

What we may know for sure is that the country does not regret any of the leading achievements of the past eight years of republican rule. We speak thus confidently, for the democratic party now stands confessed before the country as having been in error in its opposition to the most important of these measures. It is seeking the election with a platform which virtually confesses that the party was wholly wrong in the last two presidential campaigns. It has a candidate who openly confesses that it was wrong in every vital particular. It comes pleading that it has seen the error of its ways and that as a reformed bungler it can safely be trusted with power. It has no argument or charge to make against the general sum of republican politics.—Kansas City Journal.

What Mr. Davis Has to Say.

The sum and substance of Mr. Davis' letter is that what the country needs is not a change in policies, but a change in parties. Mr. Davis rejoices in the things that have been done and are being done by the present administration, but he seems to fancy that the democrats ought to be given a chance to show that they can hold office without disturbing the machinery of state which the republicans have got into such fine running condition. Mr. Davis is dreaming beautifully, and the voters will be careful not to waken him.—Chicago Post.

Candidates Cannot Agree.

And now the head and tail do not agree. Judge Parker swallows the democratic platform whole, including the plank which declares protection to be robbery, while Mr. Davis, the octogenarian candidate for vice president, who comes from West Virginia, where tariff sentiment is strong, is out for "incidental protection." The American people, who believe in protection out and out, will settle it by rejecting both and electing the republican candidates, who are agreed on this as on all other questions of great public concern.—Cleveland Leader.

TRIAL OF A LABOR LEADER.

THE PROSECUTING WITNESS IS GUARDED BY DETECTIVES.

Weinseimer's Trial Brings Out the Fact that Defendant Threatened to Kill the Man Who Paid Him $2,700 to Call Off a Strike.

New York, Oct. 14.—George J. Essig, the complaining witness in the extortion charge against Philip Weinseimer, in the trial before Judge Newburger, is protected by a guard of county detectives.

That Essig has been threatened with injury and was bodily assaulted became known Thursday. Essig said that shortly after Weinseimer's indictment in August he received threatening letters and that since his testimony against Weinseimer more letters have been received. About three weeks ago he was assaulted by three strange men near his house, beaten over the head and seriously injured.

The story of a threat alleged to have been made by Weinseimer to "use a gun if anything happened," was told Thursday by Essig in the court of general sessions where Weinseimer is on trial. It was on a complaint brought by Essig that Weinseimer was arrested, and it was during the cross-examination of the chief witness for the prosecution by Weinseimer's counsel that the story was told. Essig had told of his alleged dealings with Weinseimer, claiming that he paid the defendant $2,700 for calling off a strike.

The last payment, he said, was made in Weinseimer's office in marked bills, the day the labor leader was arrested. After the transaction had been completed and while they were going down the elevator from Weinseimer's office, Essig said, Weinseimer turned to him and said: "I've got a lot of friends, and if anything happens they will make the people responsible sweat for it. I can use a gun as well as anyone else." Essig said Weinseimer was very much excited at the time and before the elevator had reached the lower floor, again turned to his companion and said: "You know that you are as guilty as I am." When they stepped from the elevator detectives were at hand, and at a nod from Essig they placed Weinseimer under arrest.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Duke of Connaught, Brother of King Edward, Is Thrown Out of an Automobile.

Edinburgh, Oct. 14.—The Duke of Connaught, brother of King Edward, while driving in a motor car from Edinburgh to Gosford House, the seat of the Earl of Wemyss, had a narrow escape from death and suffered painful injuries, from which he was for a time unconscious.

The automobile in which the duke was riding with his aide-de-camp, Maj. Murray, in passing a street car collided with a cart. The overhanging portion of the cart struck the rear seat of the automobile and literally carried away that section of the vehicle. The duke was thrown out with great force.

As soon as the automobile could be stopped Maj. Murray went to the aid of the duke, whom he found unconscious and bleeding from wounds about the head. A second automobile, carrying members of the duke's suite, came up and the duke was taken back to Edinburgh in it. By the time the automobile reached Edinburgh the duke had recovered and was able to walk into the hotel. After two stitches were taken in his ear and his hurts had been examined by physicians it was announced that the duke would suffer no serious consequences.

Chicago to Have the Biggest Hotel.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Chicago is to have the largest hotel in the world. It will cost $10,000,000, be 22 stories high and dwarf in size and magnificence any structure of the kind ever erected. The owners will be a syndicate of Chicago and eastern capitalists headed by Otto Young. The hotel will occupy property measuring 400 feet in length by 171 feet in depth in Michigan avenue, two blocks south of the Auditorium. Steel construction will be used in building the new hotel, which will be the highest building in Chicago in point of stories, with the exception of the Masonic Temple.

Schooner Driven on a Bar.

Chatham, Mass., Oct. 14.—A terrific sea, the result of a three days' northeaster, drove onto Chatham outer bar at 8 o'clock last night an unknown three-masted schooner, which the life savers were unable to reach and which at a late hour last night they feared would go to pieces before morning. The vessel had lights in the cabin when she struck the bar, but the life savers were unable to get any response to their hails, nor answers to their signals. The schooner went ashore at low water.

$100,000 Fire Loss.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 14.—Fire yesterday destroyed three buildings of the plant of the United Zinc and Chemical Co. at Argentine, Kan., a suburb, causing a loss of $100,000. Thousands of fish in the Kaw river were killed by acids and chemicals that escaped from the plant into the stream.

Redmond Tells of Success in America.

Dublin, Oct. 14.—When John E. Redmond, newly arrived from his American tour, reached Dublin last night he was escorted to the rooms of the United Irish league by torch bearers and enthusiastic crowds. Addressing a meeting of the league, Mr. Redmond emphasized the unexpected success that had attended his visit to America. He said he believed there was nothing the Irish party could not ask from America so long as they avoided dissension and pursued a sensible policy in pressing towards the great goal of independence.

THE UNITED STATES WILL SOON KNOCK AT THE DOORS OF CANADA FOR WHEAT.

A Crop of 60,000,000 Bushels of Wheat Will Be the Record of 1904.

The results of the threshing in Western Canada are not yet completed, but from information at hand, it is safe to say that the average per acre will be reasonably high, and a fair estimate will place the total yield of wheat at 60,000,000 bushels. At present prices this will add to the wealth of the farmers nearly $60,000,000. Then think of the immense yield of oats and barley and the large herds of cattle, for all of which good prices will be paid.

The following official telegram was sent by Honorable Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, to Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada:—

"Am now able to state definitely that under conditions of unusual difficulty in Northwest a fair average crop of wheat of good quality has been reaped and is now secure from substantial damage. The reports of injury by frost and rust were grossly exaggerated. The wheat of Manitoba and Northwest Territories will aggregate from fifty-five to sixty million bushels. The quality is good, and the price is ranging around one dollar per bushel."

Frank H. Spearman, in the Saturday Evening Post, says:—

"When our first transcontinental railroad was built, learned men attempted by isothermal demonstration to prove that wheat could not profitably be grown north of where the line was projected; but the real granary of the world lies up to 300 miles north of the Canadian Pacific railroad, and the day is not definitely distant when the United States will knock at the doors of Canada for its bread. Railroad men see such a day; it may be hoped that statesmen also will see it, and arrange their reciprocities while they may do so gracefully. Americans already have swarmed into that far country and to a degree have taken the American wheat field with them. Despite the fact that for years a little Dakota station on the St. Paul road—Eureka—held the distinction of being the largest primary grain market in the world, the Dakotas and Minnesota will one day yield their palm to Saskatchewan.

Historic Spot for Sale.

A British camp, dating back prior to the Roman invasion, is advertised for sale. It has an area of 20 acres, and is more than 300 feet above the sea level. It served the troops of Caesar, the Saxons, Ethelred, Alfred the Great, and the soldiers of Cromwell. The proprietor asks $500 an acre.

Lose Whiskers in Race with Death.

A wild ride through the blazing forests from the Hastings Sawmill company, near Sliaman, B. C., cost every man on the train his whiskers and many of them lost their hair and clothes. They ran a race with death, and their escape was marvelous.

WHAT ROME THINKS

THE POPE'S PHYSICIAN ENDORSES AN AMERICAN REMEDY.

Dr. Lapponi Uses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills In His Practice Because Results Meet His Expectations.

Dr. Lapponi, the famous physician to the Vatican, whose name has recently come so greatly to the front on account of his unremitting attention to His Holiness, the late Pope Leo XIII, and the high esteem and confidence with which he is regarded by the present Pope, His Holiness Pius X, is a man of commanding genius. He is more than a mere man of science; he is a man of original and independent mind. Untrammeled by the "etiquette" of the medical profession and having used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in his practice with good results, he freely avows the facts and endorses the value of this remedy with an authority which no one will venture to question.

Dr. Lapponi's Letter.

"I certify that I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in four cases of the simple anæmia of development. After a few weeks of treatment, the result came fully up to my expectations. For that reason I shall not fail in the future to extend the use of this laudable preparation not only in the treatment of other forms of the category of anæmia or chlorosis, but also in cases of neurasthenia and the like."

(Signed) GIUSEPPE LAPPONI,
Via dei Gracchi 332, Rome.

The "simple anæmia of development," referred to by Dr. Lapponi, is of course, that tired, languid condition of young girls, whose development to womanhood is tardy and whose health, at that period, is so often imperiled. His opinion of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People at that time is of the highest scientific authority, and it confirms the many published cases in which anæmia and other diseases of the blood, as well as nervous diseases such as nervous prostration, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, paralysis and locomotor ataxia have been cured by these pills. They are commended to the public for their efficiency in making new blood and strengthening weak nerves. After such an endorsement they will be accepted by the medical and scientific world at their full value.

A NEW FLYING MACHINE.

Brazilian Rival of Prof. Langley Will Test His Contrivance Shortly—No Balloon Used.

A flying machine designed by the Brazilian Alvarez has been completed in London and will be tested shortly. It consists of two winglike aeroplanes 40 feet in length from tip to tip, with a total surface of 400 square feet. These are attached to a bamboo framework by wire.

The motor is two horse-power, run by petroleum, and there are two propellers five feet in diameter, and two rudders, one with an up and down motion and one which moves from right to left. The entire machine weighs 150 pounds.

No balloon of any kind is used. The machine will be taken aloft 5,000 feet by a balloon and then released. It is asserted that when the problem of supplying sufficient motor power is solved the duration of the machine's flight will be no less certain than the run of a motor car.

ALL BROKEN DOWN.

No Sleep—No Appetite—Just a Continual Backache.

Joseph McCauley, of 144 Sholto St., Chicago, Sachem of Tecumseh Lodge, says: "Two years ago my health was completely broken down. My back ached and was so lame that at times I was hardly able to dress myself. I lost my appetite and was unable to sleep. There seemed to be no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, but four boxes of this remedy effected a complete and permanent cure. If suffering humanity knew the value of Doan's Kidney Pills, they would use nothing else, as it is the only positive cure I know."

REPORT OF ELLIS H. ROBERTS.

TREASURER OF UNITED STATES MAKES A STATEMENT.

The Panama Canal and a Loan to the World's Fair Caused a Deficiency During the Last Fiscal Year.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Ellis H. Roberts, treasurer of the United States, has submitted to Secretary Shaw the annual report on the transactions of the treasury during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904.

The net ordinary revenues are shown to have been $540,631,749, a decrease of $19,764,925 as compared with 1903, and the net ordinary expenditures $582,402,321, an increase of $76,303,314. In the receipts the principal falling off was $23,205,017 in customs, while in the disbursements the important increases were $11,423,446 in commerce and labor, $60,788,580 in the treasury proper, and $20,338,067 for the navy.

Unusual expenditures were $50,000,000 on account of the Panama canal and $4,600,000 loaned to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co., which latter has been nearly all repaid. But for these, the deficiency of $41,770,571 would have been changed to a surplus of $12,829,428.

The operations affecting the public debt exceeded those of the preceding year and amounted to $699,660,941 in receipts and $638,924,379 in disbursements. The aggregate receipts for the year were therefore $1,240,292,690 and the aggregate disbursements $1,221,326,701. For the first three months of the current fiscal year the revenues show a falling off of $6,516,373 and the expenditures an increase of $18,073,539.

The redemption of United States notes in gold amounted to $11,081,068 for the year, and those of treasury notes to $474,126.

In consequence of the deficiency in the revenues, the cash in the offices of the treasury and mint declined during the year from $170,020,562 to $137,520,264, and by October 1, to $125,964,888.

The increase in the number of banks during the year was 395, and of these 262 deposited less than $100,000 each in bonds to secure circulation, and 381 less than $500,000 each. On June 30 a single bank had on deposit $10,000,000 in bonds to secure circulation, while 1,182 had less than $25,000. Bonds to secure public moneys were held for 842 institutions in 52 states and territories, including Porto Rico, in amounts varying from $40,000 to $10,000,000. The state and municipal bonds on deposit, which at one time amounted to over $20,000,000, have been gradually reduced to less than $3,000,000. The semi-annual duty paid into the treasury on circulation was $1,928,837, an increase of $220,017 over 1903.

An addition of $118,793,148 was made during the year to the monetary stock of the country and another of $31,829,599 in the following quarter. Of the total increase $110,804,469 was in gold. The aggregate supply on October 1, exclusive of certificates, was estimated at $2,835,333,734, of which $2,562,149,489 was in circulation. The proportion of gold was 47.66 per cent, against 44.21 on July 1, 1900. The gain of gold to the treasury in the same period was $286,033,233.

The actual gold coin in circulation on October 1 is placed at $641,844,863 in coin and $486,512,159 in certificates.

Since July 1, 1900, there has been a growth of $463,991,862 in the money in circulation, or an average of nearly $116,000,000. On October 1 the circulation reached the maximum of $31.16 for each person, and the proportion of gold to the whole was 44.03 per cent.

The national bank notes presented for redemption during the year amounted to $262,141,930, or 61.12 per cent. of the average outstanding. This is the highest record for any year of the 30 during which these notes have been redeemed by the treasurer.

From June 30, 1899, to June 30, 1904, there was a net increase of 1,803 in the number of banks, making a total of 5,386.

A Big Registration.

Columbus, O., Oct. 15.—The first day's registration in the cities of Ohio indicates that the quietness of the campaign is by no means evidence of apathy on the part of voters. Practically every city in the state showed an increase in registration over the first day of previous years. At both state headquarters an advantage is claimed. Republicans say as Ohio is a republican state a heavy vote favors their party. On the other hand the democratic leaders say that the big republican pluralities of recent years have been due to stay-at-home democrats, and the heavy registration indicates that they are coming out this year.

Mayor Jones' Estate.

Toledo, Oct. 15.—Papers filed in probate court show the total appraisal of the late Mayor Jones' estate to be $354,112. Of this amount $332,889 is in stocks and bonds. The personal property is valued at $1,150 and cash on hand amounts to $1,572. The real estate is worth $18,500 and his library is valued at $200. Mrs. Jones, by law, took $5,000 for the support of herself and minor son for a year following the mayor's death.

Alleged Bigamists Arrested.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—A man alleged to be William Lane, of Bellefontaine, O., is under arrest here on a charge of bigamy. Lane, it is said, eloped with a school teacher of Croton, O., and married her. Before deserting his first wife, however, it is alleged, he left his coat, vest and hat on the bank of Silver Lake, as if he committed suicide. Arraigned at the same time with the Bellefontaine man was another Ohioan who gave his name as William Ernest Whipple and was charged with having a wife in Delaware, O., and marrying again.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

It Rejects an Amendment to Forbid Remarriage of Divorced Persons.

Boston, Oct. 15.—The house of deputies of the Episcopal general convention at the close of a four days' debate yesterday rejected an amendment to the divorce canon which sought to prevent the re-marriage of divorced persons by clergymen of the denomination. While the house of bishops may yet act on the matter, it is certain that no change will be made by the present convention.

The present law of the church, which has been in operation since 1859, allows the remarriage of the innocent party to a divorce granted for infidelity. At several conventions attempts have been made to repeal this law and when a vote was taken Friday by the house of deputies sitting as a committee of the whole on the question of reporting the proposed amendment to the house itself, the reformers were successful by a vote of 214 to 191, and this vote was regarded as representing the actual strength of the contending forces.

The final vote, however, was taken by dioceses and orders, and where a diocese was evenly divided in sentiment its strength was counted in the negative. The vote by dioceses was: Clerical—For the amendment, 30; against, 21; divided, 10.

Lay vote—For, 25; against, 24; divided, 6.

Practically the entire strength of the middle west states, the stronghold of the high church party, declared for the proposed reform, but the Pacific states and a number of southern states voted against a change of the present canon. The diocese of New York opposed the amendment, while that of Pennsylvania favored it. Vermont, New Hampshire and western Massachusetts voted for a change, as did the lay deputies from Rhode Island. The clerical deputies from Maine favored the amendment, but the votes of Connecticut and Massachusetts were cast in the negative. The issue was not a party one.

SLOW BUT SURE.

Progress in the Leading Branches of Manufacture Is Reported.

New York, Oct. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Progress is slow but sure in the leading branches of manufacture, contracts being more readily placed for distant delivery, while the percentage of idle machinery steadily decreases. Satisfactory news from leading iron and steel centers tends to strengthen confidence elsewhere, as the consumption of iron has been found a good barometer of business conditions. Jobbing and wholesale trade in fall and winter wearing apparel expands gradually, and such spring lines as are opened meet with a fairly satisfactory reception, considering the recent indisposition to provide for future requirements.

Building operations have expanded, at some cities establishing a noteworthy record for September, and the permits recently issued promise well for the future. Labor is fairly well employed, according to the latest official trades union reports, although the Fall River struggle has lasted longer than expected. Latest returns of foreign commerce compare very favorably with the corresponding time last year, and railway earnings in the first week of October were 6.9 per cent. larger than in 1903.

All divisions of the iron and steel industry are making progress, tardy orders coming forward in greater number.

Failures this week were 208 in the United States, against 208 last year, and in Canada 24 compared with 28 a year ago.

A Fatal Experiment.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 15.—P. M. Scannon and wife, of Minneapolis, fell from a third-story window of the Germania building to the stone sidewalk yesterday. The woman was killed and Scannon is not expected to live. Scannon is the inventor of a fire escape and it was during a test of the apparatus that the accident occurred. He had swung himself down from the eighth floor of the building to the third, where his wife was awaiting him in a window. The rope which sustained them was light and when the woman's weight was added to that of her husband, the stone window ledge above cut the strands of the rope, letting them both fall.

Large Registration in New York State.

New York, Oct. 15.—Friday was the first day of registration in New York City. At a late hour the returns from Manhattan and the Bronx showed a smaller number of voters for the first day than registered on the opening in 1900. Throughout the state heavy gains in registration were made.

Wood Alcohol Caused Death.

New York, Oct. 15.—Wood alcohol in quantities sufficient to cause death has been found in the stomachs of the three supposed victims of poisoned whisky in the so-called "Stryker Farm" district, according to the report made to Coroner Scholer by the chemist of the board of health.

Murphy Talks of Intimidation.

New York, Oct. 15.—After receiving a number of reports about the registration of voters which opened in this city Friday, Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, made charges against the republicans of intimidation regarding the registration.

A Big Army of Employes.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The census bureau has issued a report on the executive civil service of the United States showing a total of 271,169 employes, embracing all persons employed in the executive branches of the government except enlisted men in the military and naval branches. This aggregate embraces 120,786 employes not included in reports made by the heads of the executive departments. Of these 120,786 all but 17,710 were exempt from examination under civil service rules. The exempt list includes 74,196 postmasters,

The Democratic "Confidence" Game.

"State of New York,
Huffman House, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1885.
My Dear Sir:

Reliable information has reached us that a marked and special effort is being made to elect General Carr.

We trust that within your own circle of friends you will make diligent efforts to defeat this object.

Very truly yours,
ALTON B. PARKER,
Chairman Ex. Com."

[From the Irish World, Oct. 24, 1885.]

"The aim of this "confidence" circular is obvious. They want to politically kill General Carr. And why? Because General Carr is an Irish-American and a Catholic, and if he be elected the Democrats are afraid he will reinforce the Republican party in the coming election and bring fresh accessions to the Republican standard of '88. Their campaign orators and journals were wont to say that the Republican party was a foe to Catholicity. Neither the Democratic nor the Republican party is anti-Catholic. There are Know-Nothings in both political organizations; but to say that the Republican party, either in its platform of principles or in its ultimate ends, tends in that direction any more than the Democratic party is false, and the nomination of General Carr to the honored position of Lieutenant Governor proves its falsity. Every intelligent man knows what the Irish World states here is the truth."

We all know the result of that election. The Irish vote rebuked the mug-wumps once again even more signally than before by electing Hill, while giving General Carr on the Republican ticket a handsome vote over and above the rest of his ticket. The significance of this well understood.

"Where were the mugwumps? Where are the mugwumps?" queried the New York Sun sarcastically next day.

That secret circular of Parker's against Carr was an unmanly action, an unnecessary meanness, that ought not to be forgotton for Parker.

General Carr deserved well of the people of New York—Democratic as well as the Republican—and all good citizens should have rejoiced at the handsome compliment of a heavy vote for the gallant soldier, the efficient State officer, the progressive business man against whom nothing could be said except that he was the son of an Irishman and a Catholic. For these two things only he was singled out for special action against him. Afraid of his great popularity and its value to the Republioan ticket, he was struck at in this cowardly and underhand fashion.

A Continual Strain.

Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and dispondency. They cannot, as a rule, get ride of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75. At all druggists.

A Cure Guaranteed.

Many people after taking certain remedies are to all appearances cured but the question always arises, "Do they stay cured?" The great claim for that splendid remedy, Thompson's Barosma, backache, Kidney and Liver Cure is that it makes a deceided and lasting cure and that the general health is restored. Send for circulars of testimonials to E. K. Thompson & Son, Titusville, Pa. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

How to Retain Youth.

Middle aged and aged people can retain their youthfulness by keeping certain organs in a healthy condition. In a man the liver and kidneys will cause him to look, feel and act careworn. In a woman the liver and organs peculiar to her sex will give her a careworn, sallow, wrinkled look and dragged out feelings. All this can be avoided by Thompson's Barosma. It builds up and strengthens all those functions, giving renewed youth. Thompson's Barosma retains youth. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

Pimples! Boils! Carbuncles!

San-Cura Ointment will positively cure Pimples, Boiles and Carbuncles. It is pleasant and soothing, gradually drawing out all poisons and foreign matter, leaving a sound, healthy skin. San-Cura Ointment is a great aid in preventing scars. It is antiseptic and cleansing, allaying the inflammation. San-Cura Ointment at all drug stores, 25c and 40c. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

Prayers offered in fear are still more sincere than prayers offered in a spirit of boasting.

The Most Fatal Disease.

Diseases of the kidneys cause more deaths than any other one class of diseases. Most people who have kidney disease do not know they have it. The first symptons are neither not noticed or mistaken for something else. This is why insurance companies always require a strict analysis of urine before granting insurance. Thompson's Barosma will at once relieve any congestion or inflamation of the kidneys and has make remarkable cures in Bright's disease, sciatica and all diseases of the kidneys and liver. Pleasant to take. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

Why You Should Visit the World's Fair.

The principle reason why a visit should be made to this greatest of Expositions is on account of its educational value. A visit to the World's Fair is in itself a trip around the world, for fifty cents, the price of admission. The president of one of our greatest universities has said "To the bright student the Exposition is worth a thousand college lectures." The opportunity of a life-time is afforded in which to acquire, by a few days' sojourn at the Fair, an education which could not otherwise be received. The World's Fair Grounds cover over 1200 acres, being more than twice as large as those of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago.

Only a few weeks remain in which to take advantage of this great opportunity. Every day from now until the close of the Fair is a "special" day. The Wabash is selling daily Excursion tickets to the Fair at greatly reduced rates: $12.00 St. Louis and return, on sale daily, except Fridays and Saturdays. Tickets good in Palace Reclining Chair Cars, $15.00, St. Louis and return. Tickets on sale daily, and good on either Palace Reclining Chair Cars or Pullman Sleepers. The Wabash operates through trains from Pittsburg to the World's Fair Main Entrance, all trains leaving the magnificent new passenger station, corner of Liberty avenue and Ferry street, at 2:00 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. daily, city time.

Detailed information regarding rates and train service, to St. Louis, as well as to many Homeseekers' points in the West, Northwest and Southwest, cheerfully furnished at Wabash City Ticket Office, 320 Fifth avenue, Depot Ticket Office, Wabash Station. 35-4t

Sore Throat

Throat affections should never be neglected. Sore Throat leads to Quinsy and Diphtheria. It is of vital importance to have a remedy at hand in the early stages of troubles of this nature. Many are the deaths that have resulted from a neglected Sore Throat.

Hamlins WIZARD OIL

will cure this disease more quickly and effectually than any other liniment manufactured.

Animas City, Colo.

Last summer I suffered constantly with Sore Throat and had the best doctors I could get, but they gave me no relief. The first application of Hamlins Wizard Oil gave me relief and by using it a few days I was entirely cured. A bottle of Hamlins Wizard Oil is worth its weight in gold to any person. C. A. BRYANT.

Washington, La., Sept. 4, 1900.

My wife suffered with Sore Throat for a year, and though she doctored and doctored nothing seemed to help her. I procured a bottle of Hamlins Wizard Oil and it has done her more good than anything in the world. HENRY WADE.

There is only one Wizard Oil—Hamlins—name blown in the bottle. Signature "Hamlin Bros." on wrapper. Take no substitute. 50c. and $1.00.

AIDS TO SUCCESS.

I'm thankful, truly thankful, I have kind and loving friends
Who wait with willing hearts and hands to help me gain my ends;
The faith which they repose in me is strength through thick and thin,
I dare not disappoint them, so I feel I'm bound to win.

And yet, I must be truthful, so I frankly here confess
There is another stronger force impells me toward success;
A doubting few have said I'll fail, and so I feel I must
To make them swallow their remarks—confound 'em!—win or bu'st.

Mothers and Daughters

Every woman who has a grown daughter knows well the worry and anxiety which always comes at that period of life when girlhood merges into womanhood. Upon a girl's condition at this time depends her future health, strength and happiness. Too much care can not be taken to see that she passes through this period safely.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA
Herb Tea
A BOON TO WOMANKIND

is of the greatest assistance to nature in bringing about the change which takes place, without disarranging the natural functions of the system. It is a strengthening tonic. It will keep the roses in a girl's cheeks and prevent that tendency to decline which so often endangers her life at this critical point in development.

This Herb Tea is likewise of corresponding value and assistance to matrons and mothers at the end of this period. Its use will at this time prevent endless pain and worry. A woman will enter the evening of life with scarcely the knowledge that the change has occurred. Many are the thankful women who know the value of Aunt Dinah's Old Virginia Herb Tea and are grateful for the benefits derived from its use.

At Squatter's Gulch

By THOMAS B. MONTFORT

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

JOE COUSINS was seated in front of his cabin up in Sequatchie gulch. He was weary and discouraged, for he had just added another to a long series of days of hard and futile effort in his search for gold.

Presently another man came down the road, togged out in his Sunday attire. He was humming a light air, his head well up and a satisfied expression on his face. Joe Cousins watched this man for a moment, a scowl on his countenance, then to himself he said:

"D— him."

When the man came even with Joe he stopped and, for an instant, stood silent, eyeing him closely. There was something of an air of triumph in his manner that was exasperating.

"Well," he said, presently, "how's things?"

"Oh, about so," Cousins replied, with forced calmness.

"Struck nothing yet?"

"No."

"Too bad, isn't it?"

"Oh, I don't know. It takes time to strike a fortune. Things will come around all right, I guess."

"Maybe so. I hope they will, anyhow; but you can't always tell. You missed your chance up there at Ruggle's Point. If you had done as I did you would be on Easy street now."

"That's true, I guess; but I prefer to get money in some other way. I'd rather remain poor all my life than rob a helpless old man."

"Oh, it wasn't robbery, Joe. Nothing like it. It was just merely a sharp stroke of business. It's done every day."

"Perhaps it is; but that doesn't make it right," Joe replied. "It may be business in the eyes of some people, but to me it looks like dishonesty."

The other laughed.

"Well, look at it as you please," he said. "You have that right. I'm afraid, though, you'll never get on in this world if you're always going to be so particular. It don't pay. Such high notions of honor are commendable no doubt, but they don't buy anything. Well, I'm off for town. Anything I can do for you down there?"

"No."

"I may see Miss Harmon. Just barely possible, you know. If there is any word you want to send her I'll be glad to take it."

Joe's face darkened again.

"Very much obliged," he said "There is nothing you can do for me."

The other hesitated for a moment, then, with an exasperating air of self assurance, said:

"I want to be square with you, Joe, so I'll tell you something. I'm going to ask Miss Harmon to marry me."

Joe stood up, a flash of anger in his eyes. With an effort he controlled his feelings and calmly replied:

"So far as I can see that is none of my business. If you want her, and she is willing to have you, marry her."

"Of course. But knowing that you are in love with her, I thought I ought to tell you. I don't want to appear to take any advantage of you, you know."

"You are very considerate Jim; very. But it is not necessary for you to bother about me. You have a perfect right to marry Miss Harmon—if you can get her."

"Thanks! I am glad you feel so about it. Of course, I know you can not expect to win her—not in your financial condition you know. That is one of the great disadvantages of being poor, isn't it?"

The half-sneering, wholly patronizing tone in which these words were uttered was highly trying to Joe. Drawing himself up to his full height he said, warmly:

"Poor as I am, Jim Lewis, I would not exchange places with you for the world. Money is a good thing to have, but a clear conscience is better. Even for the sake of winning Miss Harmon I would not want to get a dollar dishonestly."

"No! Well, I hope you may find much happiness in your high ideas, Joe. For my part, I'll risk finding my happiness in plenty of money and the woman I love. So long."

Jim Lewis resumed his walk down the road. His manner was that of a man thoroughly satisfied with himself and the world in general. His bearing was that of a victor.

Joe Cousins returned to his seat, and, placing his elbows on his knees, dropped his face into his hands. He was very unhappy. He loved Jane Harmon, and he believed he could win her if he dared to try. But he was poor, and he was too proud to ask any woman to marry him and share his poverty. He had toiled faithfully for years and fortune had not smiled on him. So far as he could see, there was not the slightest indication of any improvement in his financial prospects. For this reason he remained away from Miss Harmon, giving Jim Lewis the field.

He had been sitting in the same dejected attitude for an hour, brooding over his ill-fortune, and wondering whether it paid, after all, to be honest, when a strange but hearty voice accosted him. Looking up he saw an old man, with long hair and an unkempt beard, standing before him.

"Ha! I thought I couldn't be mistaken," the old man cried. "I'd remember that face anywhere. I never forget a good, honest countenance. How are you?"

Joe arose and met the extended hand, at the same time looking at the old man in a puzzled way.

"I believe you have the advantage of me," he said. "I can't just place you at once."

"So! Don't you remember an old fellow up at Ruggle's Point? A young chap, your friend, named Lewis, beat him out of a claim by jumping it while he was sick. He wanted you to jump another claim and you refused. Don't you remember?"

"Yes, now I do."

"That was a mean trick in Lewis. He made $10,000 out of it, though. Hope he may enjoy it. It didn't hurt me much. Got plenty without that. The other mine turned out big. Made me rich. How you doing?"

"Well, a little slow, I'm afraid."

"So? Haven't struck anything down here, then?"

"Not yet."

"Too bad. What would you think if I was to tell you that you are rich?"

"I should think you were joking, of course."

"I never joke. You are rich."

Joe shook his head and smiled sadly.

"Don't believe it, eh?" the old man cried.

"I can't imagine any possibility by which such a thing could be so," Joe replied.

"Can't you? Do you remember the claim you abandoned up there at the Point?"

"Yes, I remember that. I ought to, after wasting nearly a year on it."

"That claim is still yours, and there is a fortune in it. It's worth $100,000 any day. I prospected it and know. Been offered that for it. Where's your friend—Lewis?"

"He's gone to town. Are you sure about that claim of mine?"

"Of course. You can have $100,000 for it any day. I'm going back, and I want you to go with me. I just came down for a day or two. Got a daughter, and heard she was down at town. Came to meet her. Maybe you know her?"

"I may, but I believe I have forgotten your name. Or did I ever know it?"

"I guess not. Everybody called me Shortcut. The way I talk, you know. Remember?"

"Yes. Your real name is—"

"Harmon. Zach Harmon."

Joe gave a start, and his face paled and flushed. The old man saw nothing however, and presently he rattled on:

"I haven't seen my daughter for five years. Haven't heard from her for a long time. I used to write to her back home, but got out of the habit. Not much mail going up there, you know. I heard last week she was down here. A man from down here told me. He said she had come on to hunt me up if I was still living. Fine girl, and I am anxious to find her. Do you know her?"

"What is her first name?" Joe asked.

"Jane."

Joe was silent a moment, then he answered, quietly:

"Yes, I think I know her. At least I know a lady of that name."

"So? Then it is my daughter. Where is she?"

"Down in town."

"Yes. How far from here?"

"About three miles."

"So? Well, I must get on. Anxious to see her, you know. Five years is a long time. I'll see you to-morrow."

Joe hesitated a moment, then he said:

"Perhaps I ought to tell you something before you go, Mr. Harmon."

"Well, what is it?"

"Lewis is down there."

"Down there? With my girl, you mean?"

"Yes."

"What for? Want to marry her?"

"I think so."

The old man's eyes blazed.

"The scoundrel!" he cried. "I'll soon settle him, though. Guess she don't know that he robbed me. Why didn't you tell her?"

"I didn't know who you were. I never dreamed of you being her father."

"That's so. Well, must hurry. Would you come with me? Wish you would, to show me the way."

"I'll come, if you wish it."

"All right, come on."

They passed out of the gulch as the night began to fall. They went down the mountain in the darkness. There was comparative silence between them. Now and then the old man jerked out a short sentence and Joe answered. That was all.

"Can I win her?" he said to himself. "Or is it too late?"

He remembered Lewis' air of confidence, and he sighed, and in his heart there was a feeling of fear.

"This is the house," he finally announced.

Without making his presence known, the old man threw open the door and walked in. Joe followed. They came upon Lewis and the girl, sitting together, and the former was declaring his love. The old man walked straight up to Lewis and rapped him over the head with his cane.

"Ha! Scoundrel, villain, thief!" he cried. Then, turning to the girl, he added: "Jane, don't you know me? I'm your father."

She gave a little glad cry and went to his outstretched arms. There was a long and impressive silence; then the old man pointed to Lewis and said:

"Jane, are you going to marry that man?"

"No, father," she replied. "Never!"

"Ha! Good! He's a scoundrel!" He paused a moment, then, pointing to Joe, added: "Now, there's a man who's honest. Do you know him?"

"Yes, I know him," she said, softly.

"Do you like him?"

She did not answer. It was not necessary. Joe knew he would not have to win her.

JAPS GAINED GROUND.

Gen. Kuropatkin's advance has been met with a counter advance of the forces under Field Marshal Oyama. According to advices received at Tokio a general engagement is in progress between Liao Yang and Mukden, but reports from Russian sources describe the fighting there as merely in the nature of advance guard actions. Kuropatkin is reported to be aiming to strike simultaneously at two widely separated points on the Japanese left. There has been hard fighting a short distance north of Bensihu, in which a Russian loss of 150 in killed or wounded is admitted. The Japanese claim to have cut off a Russian column south of the Taitse river.

It is evident that Kuropatkin is transfering the weight of his attack to the Japanese right, which rests on the Taitse river east of the Yentai mines. North of Yentai the fighting is reported to be of the most desperate character, the positions constantly changing hands and the losses on both sides being heavy.

Tokio reports that the battle raged uninterruptedly all of Tuesday and into the night and that it is believed there that the Russian turning movement was checked. Oyama reports that he is gaining ground and that the Russian attack on Sienchung in the effort to cut the Japanese communications with the Yalu river was repulsed.

VICTORY FOR THE JAPS.

Tokio, Oct. 14.—The latest telegrams from the front indicate the continuation of Japanese success.

Gen. Oku's left army alone bagged 25 guns.

The Russians made two desperate counter attacks against the Japanese left, but were repulsed with heavy slaughter.

The Manchurian headquarters in a telegram sent Thursday reported as follows:

"Since the last report our right army has been continuing a vigorous pursuit of the enemy towards the north.

"The enemy's two counter attacks against the center column of the left army were very daring, but these attacks were repulsed with heavy damage.

"The supports and the artillery reserve advanced to Kuchiatzu and vicinity, driving the Russians from Hunchiatien.

"The right wing of the left column of the center army captured 150 prisoners."

St. Petersburg, Oct. 14.—Gen. Kuropatkin reports that during the fighting Wednesday and Thursday the advance troops were reinforced from the principal positions; that last evening the left wing was ordered to fall back on the main position, and that about 2 p. m. the center also fell back.

Desperate fighting and heavy losses on both sides, with varying success for the Russians, such is the summing up of the situation by Kuropatkin in a telegram filed yesterday.

At nightfall on October 12 the Russian right was withdrawn from its main position, but one of the abandoned positions was retaken at the point of the bayonet during the night.

Gen. Stoessel, commander of the Russian troops at Port Arthur, telegraphs that the Russians recently recaptured Signal Hill. He adds that the Japanese are bombarding the interior of the fortress with new batteries and that the bombardment is becoming more and more violent.

RUSSIANS RETREATING.

A SUMMARY OF THE SITUATION.

The main armies of Russia and Japan in Manchuria continue to be engaged in a desperate struggle for supremacy south of Mukden. On both sides there have been such losses in killed and wounded as mark the contest for one of the bloodiest battles in history. Already the losses at Liao Yang have been approximated, and the indications are that they will be exceeded, that of the Russians up to noon of October 14 being estimated at 15,000. The Russian advance has been converted into a stubbornly-fought retreat. The result according to the Russians is still to be determined.

Reports from the Russian left wing are lacking, leaving room for question if that part of Gen. Kuropatkin's army is not in worse extremity than the center and right were at any stage of the battle. On both sides the soldiers have shown the utmost bravery.

In official circles of St. Petersburg there is a disposition to argue that even should Gen. Kuropatkin be obliged to retire upon Mukden his position will be quite as favorable as it was when the order to advance was given on October 6, and that on the other hand the Japanese power of future resistance will have been materially weakened. There is no news from Port Arthur.

Mukden, Oct. 15.—The fighting raged yesterday with the same bitterness as on the previous days of the engagement and the result is still in the balance. The losses on both sides are enormous, that of the Russians being 15,000. Wounded soldiers are being brought in from all directions.

Warlike Burglars in a Bank.

Lakota, N. D., Oct. 15.—An attempt has been made to blow the safe of the People's state bank here, two explosions of dynamite awakening the citizens, who turned out with shotguns and revolvers. Several hundred shots were fired and the bandits forced the guests of the Grace hotel, nearby, to keep inside the building, on penalty of being shot. Among the guests was E. Y. Sarles, the republican candidate for governor. The bank safe was wrecked, but the robbers escaped without securing any money.

CARBOLIC ACID ANTIDOTE.

Turpentine Has Been Found to Be Effective and Useful in Several Recent Cases.

A remarkable discovery has apparently been made by a Dublin veterinary surgeon named Allen respecting an antidote for carbolic acid poisoning.

Some time ago his attention was drawn to two horses which were evidently suffering from poisoning. On examining one he noticed that mucous surface of the mouth was blanched and that the animal was staggering. There was a general twitching of the muscles, the eyes were staring, and the animal was rapidly assuming a comatose condition. Mr. Allen asked for some oil, linseed for preference, if, not, any kind of oil that was handy. Some was brought, and about two wine glassfuls administered to one of the animals, the effect being, to quote the words of Mr. Allen, miraculous. For the first time he then noticed that the "oil" which had been given to the horse was the ordinary turpentine of commerce. So satisfied was he with the result that he gave the second horse a dose, although at that time the animal was unconscious. In about ten minutes it recovered, and both horses were at work the next day, as if nothing had happened.

Not long after this, by a peculiar coincidence, Mr. Allen was asked to look at a blacksmith, who, after drinking a glass of stout, had become very ill. In the forge the veterinary found the smith in a condition of coma, a strong smell of carbolic acid pervading the premises. Ultimately he discovered that the man had drunk out of the wrong vessel, and imbibed a solution of the acid instead of the stout. A doctor was at once sent for, but in the meantime Mr. Allen administered a dose of turpentine that happened to be on the premises, and the man not only quickly recovered, but resumed his work within an hour.

Turpentine as an antidote in similar cases has been previously unknown, and a representative of the Daily News recently sought out an expert with a view of getting a medical opinion upon a matter of so much importance. "The symptoms in the case you mention," he said, "are distinctly those of carbolic acid poisoning, and so successful does the treatment appear to have been that further experiments in the same direction are well worth trying. If subsequent experiments confirms the oil of turpentine treatment, then on every packet or bottle containing carbolic acid should be printed this simple antidote."—London News.

TESLA'S WIRELESS TOWER.

Unique Structure on Long Island Will Be in Touch with All Parts of the World.

The Tesla central power plant and transmission tower for the transmission of wireless world telegraphy is nearing completion. It is located at Wardenclyffe, L. I.

The structure is a pyramidal tower of octagonal shape. The height is 185 feet, and its promoters declare that it emits a transmission wave complex of a total maximum of 10,000,000 horsepower, one per cent. of which would encircle the globe.

This is but the first of a number of towers to be placed over the world, each one to be near some great commercial center, for the transmission of world messages. Each tower can operate hundreds of millions of pocket-size instruments that can be set up anywhere on ocean, mountain, or desert, and there will receive any messages intended for it. The entire population of the world will then be in direct communication.

The value of such an instrument can be better understood when it is realized that if it fulfills its claims it will entirely do away with the possibilities of Robinson Crusoes on desert islands. Hereafter no explorer will be cut off from civilized communication as were Livingstone and Stanley in darkest Africa.

The ice-bound Klondikers and the intrepid Polar explorers will soon be in constant communication with the entire world, as will be all vessels in any sea.

The completion of the system will revolutionize military tactics. The Russian-Japanese war may mark the end of the old way of fighting. The next war may be entirely based on the use of the Tesla wireless telegraphy towers.

WONDERFUL SEARCHLIGHT.

It Is Provided with an Illuminator of What Is Known as 316,000,000 Candle Power.

Some idea of the great illuminating power of this instrument may be gauged from the fact that it is of 316,000,000 candle power. If it were possible to set the giant upon a hill or tower 200 feet high its rays could be easily detected 70 or 80 miles away; indeed, it is almost impossible to tell how far its rays could penetrate, as no actual demonstration has been made. It was built by the famous Schuckert company, of Nuremberg, who have given considerable attention to the manufacture of searchlights. This firm built the 20,000,000 candle power searchlight recently installed in the Heligoland lighthouse. The searchlight under notice is fitted with an Iris shutter. It has a diameter of six feet six inches, and was adopted in order to make the projector light-tight at any moment desired; it is operated in much the same way as a shutter in modern cameras. The leaves of the shutter slide within a fixed diaphragm located in the axis of the ray of light. The whole device is electrically controlled by two levers. One of these controls the motor mounted in the base of the searchlight, which operates the projector in a vertical direction through a train of gears, the other starts or stops the electrical motor which controls the horizontal movement of the beam of light.

BIGGEST SEARCHLIGHT KNOWN.

THEORIES ABOUT THE SUN

There Is No Immediate Danger That the Great Orb of Light Will Burn Itself Out.

The current theories concerning the sun and the planets are that the sun was once vastly hotter than it is now, and that for a long period it has been slowly but steadily cooling. The doctrine is built on the notion that the sun is a mass of fire in progress of intense and fierce combustion, and that, like any other fire, unless its fuel is replenished, it must burn out and become extinguished. Some astronomers teach that the sun is supplied with fuel by vast quantities of comets and meteors that are shoveled into it by some process of nature, but other astronomers like Sir Robert Hall reject the possibility of any such systematic supply of fuel, and they believe that the sun as it burns out shrinks in size at the rate of 220 feet of its diameter in a year. As the mass of the sun is something like 880,000 miles in diameter, it is calculated still to last for a good long time, but there is something extremely melancholy and saddening in the idea that our grand luminary will one day burn out with a spasmodic gleam and a whiff of ill-smelling smoke like the snuff of a candle.

It is with great satisfaction that we are allowed to believe in the possibility that the sun is made of radium, and that it can continue to give off heat and light for an inconceivable lapse of ages without being in the least diminished either in size or capacity to warm and illuminate us. The idea that it is not losing 220 feet of its diameter yearly is particularly consoling.

There is another suggestion which would enable our solar system to continue its operations without either suffering an instantaneous conflagration or being consumed by slow combustion, and this is that the sun and various bodies which revolve around it constitute an electric dynamo and an incandescent lamp on such a scale as could be designed and created by combined omniscience and omnipotence, to go on its beneficent course forever. Such a notion meets only the contempt of science, which insists upon the existence of actual fire in the sun, that must sooner or later burn itself out to complete extinguishment. Until, however, astronomers like Prof. Langley shall make a flying machine without balloon attachment that will enable human beings to fly, their vagaries concerning the playing out of the sun may well be neglected by all except full-fledged scientists.

Sapphire Fields in Montana.

Prof. Elrod, of the University of Montana, gives a striking description of the treasure that his state possesses in sapphires. The only systematic mining for these precious stones in the United States is done in Montana. The annual output amounts to 450,000 or 500,000 carats, including the stones that are suitable for cutting as gems and those that are only useful mechanical purposes. It is said the lapidaries in Helena do finer work than is done on the stones that are sent to London to be cut. Perhaps somebody will suggest that Montana should be called the "gem state," in view of the fact that her output of precious stones exceeds the production in that line of all the rest of the United States.

LIKE A "THIN RED LINE."

Jenks' Red Flannel Underwear Looked Like a String of Coral Beads.

Somebody told Mr. Jenks that red flannel worn next to the skin would cure the rheumatism from which he suffered. So he purchased several sets of red flannel undergarments. The clerk assured him that the firm guaranteed the goods in every particular. About two weeks later, says the New York Times, Mr. Jenks revisited the shop, sought out the proprietor and told his woeful story.

"The goods are the best in the house," declared the proprietor. "Of course," he said, in the reasonable tone used on unreasonable persons, "of course the shirts may have shrunk or faded a little—"

"Shrunk! Faded!" bellowed Mr. Jenks. "What do you think my wife said to me when I came down to breakfast yesterday with one of them on?"

The proprietor looked bored.

"Well, sir," said the aggrieved Jenks, "she looked at me a minute, and then said: 'What is that little red line round your neck, John? It isn't the baby's string of coral beads, is it?'"

HE LIKED TO "SUCCUMB."

Brewery Man Wore the White Ribbon Because He Was Tempted and Treated.

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette tells a story about the white ribbon which is the sign of total abstinence. "There are some persons," said Mrs. Burdette, according to the Chicago Daily News, "who don't wear the white ribbon with sincerity. They wear it, perhaps, about as hypocritically as it was worn by an employe of a certain brewer. This employe, after years of dissipation, appeared one day at the brewery with the white ribbon on his breast.

"Nothing was said to him and he wore the ribbon for some months. Then one day the head of the firm, happening to notice the man's badge, approached him. 'Why, Frank,' he said, 'it is strange to see you, a brewer, wearing the white ribbon.' 'It does look strange, sir,' the man admitted.

"'Well,' said the brewer, 'why do you do it?' 'It is like this,' said the workman. 'I wear the ribbon because it makes men like to tempt me, and when I'm tempted I succumb, sir.'"

Just Wanted to Arrive.

After Eugene Field's return from his first trip to Europe, where he "spent his patrimony like a prince," and before he went to Denver, he had a little close personal experience with hard times. One day he walked into a leading St. Louis hotel, and, squaring himself before the register, inscribed his name in his well-known copperplate chirography. The clerk had never heard of him, but he read the name with a quick glance, and said: "Do you wish a room, Mr. Field?" "No," was the answer. "Dinner?" "No." "Then may I ask what you do what?" continued the clerk. "I just wanted to arrive," replied Field, solemnly; "I had not arrived at a good hotel for many months. I feel better. Thank you," and he stalked out with long, heavy strides.—San Francisco Argonaut.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO YOUNG GIRLS.

All young girls at this period of life are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; her advice is freely and cheerfully given, and her address is Lynn, Mass.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries.

Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality,—often it is never recovered.

A Young Chicago Girl Saved from Despair.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more.—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life; with it she can go through with courage and safety the work she must accomplish, and fortify her physical well being so that her future life may be insured against sickness and suffering.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Oct. 15th, 1904.

Editor Press:

Unmistakable indications of Republican success seem to have deprived the Democratic campaign of most of its energy. An effort is, of course, being made in some directions but from the first there has never been a disposition to pull together for the election of Parker and Davis and disintegration is now going on rapidly within the Democratic machine. Apparently ignoring the possibilities of the telegraph and the news facilities of the press, the Democratic managers have arranged to have Bryan wrestle with the voters of Indiana and ex-President Cleveland address the conservative Democrats of New York State. But the wiser ones appreciate that little is to be gained for Parker from this form of campaigning. Each day the newspapers print in New York statements made by Bryan which are obnoxious to the conservative Democrats, while Mr. Cleveland is almost certain to say some things in his speech for Parker that will antagonize the wild Democracy of Bryan.

Vice-Presidential candidate H. G. Davis is traversing West Virginia making from seven to ten little rear platform talks a day but he wisely confines himself to local issues with the result that his opinions make uninteresting reading outside of his own State. David B. Hill sponsor-in-chief to the presidential candidate of the Democracy, has undertaken to tell the West Virginians some peculiar things about the tariff, but it is unlikely that they will accept Mr. Hill's assertions, especially as they are so easily disproved. For instance, Mr. Hill told an audience that a purely revenue tariff would prove ample to offset the difference between American and foreign wages. Hardly had he uttered the statement than the State Department received a report from Consul Ceneral Evans at London, showing that, according to the British Board of Trade, British workmen had suffered a loss of wages during the first half of this year amounting to $63,450 a week and that, during the same period of last year, they had suffered a loss by reduction of wages, of $2,620,000, nearly $500,000 a month. With such official figures before them the American workmen are to shrewd to accept Mr. Hill's visionary theories.

The promises of economy made by both Parker and Davis excite only derision in those who have carefully analysed the Democratic platform. That platform pledges the party to the continuous improvement of the Mississippi River, worked out on a definite plan and continued until a permanent improvement is affected. Now this is a gigantic undertaking. A Commission was appointed by Congress a few years ago to examine into the feasibility of such an improvement. General, Gillespie former Chief of Engineers, was its chairman and a very careful examination and survey was made. It was finally reported to Congress that the improvement would cost about $150,000,000 and would require 10 per cent of the initial cost for maintenance; more than the Panama canal, more than the cost of either the army or navy last year. In fact, the scheme proved so expensive that Congress abandoned the idea. Advocacy of such tremendous expenditure sounds strange when it comes from a party whose principal claims are that they will give the country a cheap administration.

Can You Eat.

T. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Charlesman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach, I lost all strength and ran down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by the use of Kodol Dyspepsie Cure, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefitted me, and after taking four bottles, I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and cures. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

NOTICE THIS COAT

It has the look that the great artist gives to a picture—that look the ordinary tailor would go crazy trying to produce. Its mighty fine tailoring and only the best craftsman can make these garments. The cheap ready-made concerns don't even think of such a thing.

The makers of our best Clothing,

Kirschbaum, of Philadelphia

have brought out many new ideas in high grade Clothing this season and it is a pleasure for us to show them to you. When you try them on you will realize that all we say about them is not half enough.

Jasper Harris,

The People's Clothier.
